

A Sweet Easter Surprise: Gift a lifeline to the frail and elderly

In Darfur, Sudan, the elderly are among the most forgotten victims of conflict. Frail, alone and without family to care for them, many have no reliable access to food or support. Too weak to travel long distances for water or aid, they face each day simply trying to survive. This Easter, instead of giving a chocolate egg, donate chickens to an elderly person in Darfur. Fresh eggs provide vital nutrition and a small, sustainable source of food for those too weak to travel far or earn an income. It costs just £15 to provide three chickens and a cockerel. A simple gift that can restore strength, dignity and hope.

We will send a personalised Easter Certificate to a loved one on your behalf.
